Site Codename: Harlem Renaissance Exploration

Client (mock) Interview

1. What is the nature of the site? (They should be looking at Major Assignment 1)

It is a cultural exploration of the art movement the Harlem Renaissance. It is an informationally based site, so it would just be to delve into what occurred and the history of the Harlem Renaissance.

2. Describe the kinds of content that you are going to include (this can be very rough).

Photos, writing, and videos would be the main kinds of content. Factual text explanations of videos and photos detailing the experience of the during the Harlem Renaissance.

Developer Notes

1. What kinds of content do you need (to make up) from the client?

Images, and most of the research itself.

2. What elements are coming to mind (HTML)?

A background image as shown, boxes for text so that it stands out against the background, maybe a floating navigation bar, but I would not want it to impede on any of the content.

3. What is the style for this website? (don't think about the CSS here, write in aesthetic terms)

The 90's style or aesthetic, lots of urban type of fonts. Sharper edges, bright but not overpowering colors.

4. What sections come to mind for this site?

History of the movement, Important artists and their influence, cultural effect on America, and fun facts about the movement

5. What might this site need in terms of functionality?

Relatively nothing, links, a navigation bar, and a menu.
